ELDER A. J. PIKE closed a very successful meeting at Oak-hill church, in the Hiatt section, Sunday evening, baptizing six converts here Monday afternoon. He was assisted by the Rev. Fred Jones. Mr. Pike left Tuesday morning for Jellico to attend the General Association of Baptists. Elder H. T. Young and County Attorney E. R. Gentry were here Thursday of last week, and organized a District Civic League, subordinate to the County Civic League organized at Mt. Vernon a few weeks ago. Prof. J. L. Pilkerton was chosen Vice-President and A. M. Hiatt, Secretary. Rev. Young and Attorney Gentry both made very interesting talks on the subject of Law and Order. About forty, some of whom were ladies, signed the pledge, and it is hoped that this movement will grow to such an extent that Law and Order will reign supreme in old Rockcastle, and that whiskey peddlers, vote buyers and sellers, and every sort of crime can easily be stamped out of our town and county. — Miss Elizabeth Storm was visiting in Crab Orchard, Saturday and Sunday. — Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Rigby, of the Preachersville section, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robins and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Howell from Saturday until Monday. — The Rev. J. F. Lunsford will preach at the Christian church Saturday evening and Sunday morning. Everybody cordially invited to attend these services. — Dr. W. F. Carter was in Shelbyville, Sunday and Monday, with relatives. — J. L. Pilkerton was in Mt. Vernon, Monday, between trains. — The Rev. Roxie Powell filled his regular appointment at the Methodist church, Sunday. — Walter Robins was in Mt. Vernon, Saturday. He was appointed Deputy County Court Clerk, and has issued hunting license to a number of the boys here. — Guy

BEST MAN IN TOWN.

The best man we have in our town for the general good of the town is the one whom you will all ways see on the front seat of the progressive band wagon. He is the first one to extend an open and warm hand to greet the stranger and welcome him to the best town in the state. He will resent an insult to our town as quickly as he would a slur at a member of his family. He very politely invites the chronic croaker "to move." He is ever ready to give his just proportion to every public enterprise. He talks up our town at home and abroad, and believes it the best place upon God's green earth in which to live and desires to be buried here when he dies. Let us all try to be like that man for one year and our little city will take on new life and improve as never before in its history.

THAT a wave of prosperity is spreading over the entire of the United States is not to be denied, and one encouraging fact is that in many cases, it is not the result of any effect the European war is having on the trade relations of this country. From the papers and trade journals from every section can be seen the reports of the opening of factories, mills etc., in every line of business and an increased output in nearly every line of work. This is evidence that prosperity is returning regardless of the war in the foreign field.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON, founder of Tuskegee College, and the greatest of all colored educators, died at his home in Alabama last Saturday after an illness of only a short duration. Washington did more for his race in America than all others combined, and in his death the black man has lost his greatest benefactor.

The entire Democratic ticket was victorious, but that was all, the majority is so small that there is nothing to boast about.

McCLURE'S DEFEAT

Indians Slay Six People on Skaggs Creek

IMMIGRANTS ATTACK AT NIGHT
In the Year 1785.

On East Fork of Skaggs Creek, on a spot of ground now owned and occupied by Frank Kirby, four miles south-east of Mt. Vernon. In the year 1785 there took place what is called McClure's defeat, an emigrant encampment, under the charge of a man named McClure, was attacked by Indians at night. Six whites were killed and scalped.

"Mrs. McClure ran into the woods with her four children, and could have made her escape with three, if she had abandoned her fourth, this infant in her arms, cried aloud and thereby gave the savages notice of their whereabouts. She heard them coming; the night, the grass, the bushes offered her concealment without the infant, but she was a mother, and determined to die with it; the like feeling prevented her from telling the three eldest to flee and hide. She feared they would be lost if they left her side; the hopes they would not be killed if they remained. In the meantime the Indians arrived and extinguished both fears and hopes in the blood of the three children. The youngest, and the mother they made captives. She was taken back to the camp, where there was plenty of provisions, and compelled to cook for her captors. In the morning they compelled her to mount an unbroken horse, and accompany them on their return home.

COL. WHITLEY TO THE RESCUE. Intelligence of this sad catastrophe being conveyed to Whitley's station (near Crab Orchard), he was not at home. A messenger, however, was dispatched after him by Mrs. Whitley, who at the same time sent others to warn and collect his company. On his return he found twenty-one men collected to receive his orders. With these he directed his course to the "war path," intending to intercept the Indians returning some over the route. Fortunately they had stopt to divide their plunder; and Whitley succeeded in gaining the path in advance of them. He immediately saw that they had not past, and prepared for their arrival. His men being concealed in a favorable position, had not waited long before the enemy appeared, dressed in their spoils. As they approached, they met a deadly fire from the concealed rifles, which killed two, wounded two others and dispersed the rest. Mrs. McClure, her child and a negro woman, were rescued, and six scalps taken by the Indians, at the camp, recovered.

FIRST BRICK HOUSE. Col. William Whitley built the first brick house in Kentucky, about three miles west of Crab Orchard, on the south side of the railroad, it can be seen by passengers passing that way. The building is still a substantial structure today. It is claimed that "the brick used in this building were hauled from Virginia." The brick was made near the house, tho made in Virginia, for the reason that at that time the territory was a part of the State of Virginia.

Col. Whitley was killed in the battle of the Thames, in Canada, while fighting the British and Indians, on October 5, 1813. The noted Indian Chief, Tecumseh, was slain in this battle, as also was Col. Richard M. Johnson. It has never been fully and clearly shown which of these latter named noted Kentucky pioneers slew the great Indian chief.

The rifle and powder horn that Col. Whitley carried to Canada is yet in possession of the Buchanan family (relatives) at Crab Orchard.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS.

As a result of vocational schools some callings formerly despised, and justly so, have become professions. Dentistry provides a good example. It was once about upon a parity with umbrella mending. A dentist had a kit of tools and tramps about looking for victims. As a profession dentistry is only about fifty years old, and although it was a calling in the days of Herodotus, America's colleges of dental surgery made this country the founder of the profession. American dentists became boosted acquisitions at European courts and well paid practitioners in European capitals because vocational training schools in this country set a constantly rising standard of requirement.

Medicine and surgery formerly were haphazard callings. The barber was often the surgeon. Priest physician were resident prescribers of portious and poultices because they had other work to do. Surgeons who were not barbers were itinerant, and did not dare double on their track for fear of meeting mobs composed of enraged relatives and friends of the deceased. They were the bolder adventurers who attempted operations. The use of boiling oil or white hot iron to stop the flow of blood after amputation were among the practices. Anaesthetics were, of course, unknown, and the man who fell into the hands of the surgeon fared worse than the man who was taken by savages. He could neither escape nor resist torture.—Courier Journal.

H. Krueger and the R. M. K. Flour Company, amounting to $25.00 and levied upon as the property of the said Fritz Krueger, W. H. Krueger and the R. M. K. Flour Company. J. S. CALDWAY, Collector. H. DAVIS, Treasurer.

In our last issue we failed to mention the wedding of Miss Kate Parsons and Mr. Esmer Hayes. Mrs. Hayes is the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Parsons of the Buckeye section. Both are popular young people of the Wildie and Buckeye vicinity. The SIGNAL joins a host of friends in wishing them lots of happiness.

BRAY-ROBERTS:—Last Sunday afternoon during a heavy down pour of rain, Miss Mae Bray and Prof Guy N. Roberts, accompanied by Misses Dessie Thompson and Emma Davis, stole the march on other friends, and drove to the home of Rev. H. T. Young of this place, and were made man and wife. Mrs. Roberts is the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bray, of Wabed this county, and Prof. Roberts is one of the county's popular young teachers. They left on the afternoon train and will make their home at Gum Sulphur. The SIGNAL extends hearty congratulations and best wishes.

The display of corn, vegetables, fruits, nuts, sorghum, etc., in Fish's show window is well worth going miles to see. There are mammoth pumpkins large enough to keep Peter's wife in; a splendid assortment of white, yellow and mix corn, including the "bloody butcher," pie mellons, gourds in varieties, the straight and crooked handles, the rattlesnake, nest egg and baby gourds. Whoppin' big beets and turnips. Squashes to throw at the birds. Two pound Irish potatoes and big sweet potatoes, each large enough to make a family meal. Ground cherries, popcorn, chinquapins, chickory, jumbo and dwarf hickory nuts, cornstalks with 5 ears to stalk, second crop apples, beside giant apples and pears, as well as medium sized fruits of finest variety. There are many other things in this interesting display. There is hardly an hour of the day when there is not a number of interested spectators inspecting and admiring this splendid show of Rockcastle products, each specimen on display bearing the name of the producer and they are, and have reasons to be proud of the results of their labors.

Under the impression that because an owl stays awake all night our industrious barber, Cas Cox, thought it would add to his earning capacity to be able to imitate the owl. He therefore had a friend slay a large specimen of the night prowler, cook and ate the whole bird at two meals, forgetting that bird's habit of sleeping in day time. The trick worked all right in one way. Cox stays awake nights but goes to sleep standing "at the chair" cutting hair or shaving customers. Now he is asking his old patrons to eat owl and report at night to be shaved.

THE ROCKCASTLE COUNTY CIVIC LEAGUE

The plan of organization is to maintain a county organization, with subordinate leagues throughout the county. A local league was organized at Brodhead on Thursday evening of last week. This was the best Civic League meeting that has been held in the county, to date. The crowd, that met in the town hall, was not only good numerically, but it was representative of the business and professional people of the town. These people are interested and are going to support the league. Thirty five cards were signed that night, a number were signed the next day, and the secretary says that one hundred pledges will be signed in Brodhead. These names have not reached the secretary in Mt. Vernon, but shall be printed in this column later. E. R. Gentry, F. L. Durham and H. T. Young, of Mt. Vernon, were at Brodhead for this meeting.

The following pledge cards have come to the secretary for the Mt. Vernon League: J. S. Irvine, W. H. Livesay, J. H. Bowman, C. H. Mullins, R. A. Sparks, Mrs. Zula Sparks, K. J. McKinney, C. T. Sigmon, J. A. Owens, Wallace Laswell, (Orlando). Other pledges have been signed that have not been turned in. Plans are being made to organize leagues at Livingston and Wildie within this month.

COLDS DO NOT LEAVE WILLINGLY

Because a cold is stubborn is reason why you should be. Instead of "wearing" it out, get sure relief by taking Dr. King's New Discovery. Dangerous bronchial and lung ailments often follow a cold which has been neglected at the beginning. As you body faithfully battles those cold germs, no better aid can be given than the use of this remedy. Its merit has been tested by old and young. Get a bottle to day. 50c and $1.00.

Telephone girls occupy small, wirefenced coops, where they can not be reached by anything but the appealing voice of the grocery salesman who is trying to locate the shipping department on a reverse ticket. Each girl wears a receiver on her right ear, which enables her to drink in a great deal of soulful profanity which was not intended for publication, along with some very animated love passages which bob up in the divorce proceedings at a later date. The best thing about the telephone girl is that her memory is shorter than a Coney Island walking skirt, and she is harder to pry information out of than a witness for the defense in a saloon fight. If telephone girls ever got together and started to tell all they knew the number of abrupt and hurried departures from the city would make the exodus from Egypt look like letting out prayer meeting on a rainy night.

The army General Staff has completed a report on the military needs of the country, in which a radical program is set forth. The report recommends increasing the regular army to 250,000 with reserves of 300,000, and in addition to a force of 100,000 men with at least a years training.

J. W. Rider was awarded the contract for the seven miles of pike leading from Mt. Vernon to Roundstone Creek at $28,000. The contract has been approved by Mr. Terrill, Commissioner of Roads.

It is now up to Mr. Rider to get busy and build some pike. We understand that he will begin at once.

J. M. had an interesting historical article in last issue of Pine Hill Sun, on Josh, Bell county. Richmond papers will have an article this week from him on early history of Madison county, whose first county seat was Milford, situated four and one half miles south of Richmond and removed to Richmond in 1781 into "John Miller's new stable."

THE SAME BUT DIFFERENT:—Running a newspaper says the Ausburn Standard, is just like running a hotel only different. When a man goes into a hotel and finds something on the table which does not suit him, he does not raise his voice with the landlord and tell him to stop his old hotel. Well, hardly. He sets that dish to one side and wades into the many dishes that suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an article occasionally that does not suit them exactly, and without stopping to think it might please hundreds of readers, make a grand stand play and tell the editor how a paper should be run and what should be put into it. But such people are becoming fewer every year.

You can save by paying cash and buying at Fish's. Try it.

WHO ARE THESE PEOPLE?

REFUSED GOOD HOMES.—Last week a woman and her three daughters and a son came to Danville. The woman said her husband had driven her and her children from their home near Mt. Vernon and that they were out seeking assistance. They applied at the Salvation Army headquarters and Capt. McDonald succeeded in placing all of them in good homes. They were given their rooms and board and were paid besides. Each was placed in a different home. In less than two days the woman quit her job and went around to various places and gathered up her children and left town. All slept on the road. ride on the Shakertown pike one night and another night they were taken in by people and cared for. The woman spread the report after she had induced her children to leave good homes that the Salvation Army would give them no assistance and that they were forced to sleep on the roadside. Capt. McDonald will furnish anyone interested with the names of the families in which the children and woman were placed that they may go to these people and secure full information as to the facts in the case. When last heard from the woman and children had reached Frankfort and were seeking assistance. People in Danville are so generous in giving beggars that many imposters come this way. All beggars without exception should be referred to the Salvation Army headquarters where each applicant is investigated. Imposters are refused help; the worthy are helped and placed in good positions. Those who object to going to the Salvation Army for help may be regarded as imposters and unworthy.—Danville Advocate.

Tabitha Hiatt, the colored woman who has lived with Atty. and Mrs. J. W. Brown for several years, is in Des Moines, Iowa, on a visit to her sisters and last week underwent a serious operation. Hon. F. Logan Thompson, Chm.
James Maret, Secretary.
Mt. Vernon, Ky.

My dear friends:—

After a most strenuous and what in the end, proved to be, the most closely contested election ever held in Kentucky, we have come out victorious. Official returns are all in and there is no longer any doubt about the result. Mr. Stanley has been elected Governor and the entire Democratic ticket has won. The majority is not very flattering but it is entirely sufficient. On the seventh of December Mr. Stanley will become the Chief Executive of the State, and to your efforts and those of other members of our organization the happy results of the election is attributable.

No candidate for the high office of Governor ever had so much to contend with as did Mr. Stanley, and it is doubtful if any other man could have, under the same circumstances, led the party to victory.

On behalf of the candidates and this committee, I thank you most heartily and through you, thanks are extended to your precinct committeemen for the assistance so cheerfully rendered during the campaign. Expressing the hope of seeing all of you at the inauguration, I am, Sincerely yours,
S. W. HAGER, Chairman

GREAT WORK OF KENTUCKY'S FISH AND GAME COMMISSION

COVERS AND STREAMS OF STATE BEING RESTOCKED
WITH THE HOPE OF ONCE AGAIN MAKING KEN-

EXECUTIVE AGENT WARD A BUSY MAN

Clubs Are Being Organized In the Different Counties to the Commission

When Daniel Boone and his sturdy pioneers came to Kentucky by the Wilderness road they found a land fertile beyond their wildest hopes, abounding with game and fish, upon which they were dependent for food and clothing. In reaching Kentucky, Boone and his followers found that the Indian tribes to the north, south and west had preceded them. To Kentucky the Indians made annual pilgrimages to kill their winter supply of game, which was found in great abundance and of splendid quality. At that time there was game in plenty for all, but the Indians looked with disfavor upon the presence of the white man, realizing that it meant the destruction of their favorite hunting grounds should they be left to occupy the land, so they stubbornly resisted by every possible means the advancement of the foreign hunter.

The Indian did not kill to excess and was determined that his happy hunting ground should not be destroyed. Their stubborn resistance made the name and early history of "Kaintuckee" typical of its Indian name, "Dark and Bloody Ground."

The pioneer, like the Indian, took only of this supply for food and raiment, but with civilization grew the sport of hunting for pleasure, and so wantonly was game destroyed by this class of citizens that thoughtful and representative men soon realized that if game was to be conserved for future generations, it was necessary to enact laws protecting them during the breeding season.

The first game laws in Kentucky, of which there is any record, were passed in 1822, and were for the protection of fish. In fact, most of the early laws were measures for fish protection. At that time all laws in the state upon this subject were local or county laws and remained so until the adoption of the present Constitution. Since that time all laws enacted upon this subject have been state measures, applying alike to each county in the state. To the county authorities were charged the enforcement of measures of this character.

To the average citizen there was little necessity for the enforcement of these measures; in fact, there was so little public sentiment for the enforcement of these laws that they were openly violated without fear of prosecution. To those who gave the subject thought, it was apparent that it was necessary to create a new law and entrusting to and charging others and specially named officers with their enforcement.

A bill was introduced in the 1910 session of the Legislature providing for the creation of a Game and Fish Commission, but was defeated. A similar measure, possibly wider in scope, was introduced in 1912 and enacted into law, which became effective in 1912. This law is found in its entirety in Chapter 35, Acts 1912.

To this Commission and its agents are entrusted the enforcement of the law and the restocking of fields and streams with game and fish. Authority was given to the Commission to appoint wardens throughout the state to enforce the law. Chapter 35, Acts 1912, made no changes in the then existing game laws, except that it provided that all hunters when hunting off their own land or that immediately adjoining their own, with the permission of the owner, should first secure a hunting license, for which they were to pay the County Court Clerk $1. The clerk was allowed to retain 15 cents for each license, directing that the remainder be sent to the Treasurer of the State, to be placed to the credit of the Game and Fish Protection Fund.

The law provided that five thousand ($5,000) dollars should be appropriated for the maintenance of the department during its first year. This sum, however, to be in the nature of a loan, and directed that the Commission should return this sum—or as much thereof as used—to the Treasurer from the first moneys collected from the sale of funds accruing from the sale of hunters' license, and in each state, as in Kentucky, the property owner is not taxed to maintain a Commission. Combination hunting and fishing licenses, permitting the hunter and fisherman to both hunt and fish upon a single license, is now in vogue in fourteen states. Other states are sure to follow this plan, as in states where only the hunter is required to pay license, the fisherman is equally benefited, the funds being spent alike for the improvement of conditions for both, and it seems but just that the fisherman should contribute his part to the enforcement of the law and the restocking of the streams with fish, by which he is surely benefited.

HUNGARIAN PARTRIDGES

In May, 1914, we liberated 300 Hungarian partridges; twenty of these birds were sent to each of fifteen counties. The birds seemed to take very kindly to Kentucky, and many scattered broods were reported in the early fall, and in the spring of 1915 some reports were had of these birds. This fall we hope to get a report from the hunters that go ahead that will give us definite information.

hunters' license. Of the $5,000 appropriated, only $420.71 was drawn from the appropriation in the months of June and July, 1912. This amount, and the remainder of the $5,000, was returned to the state in August, 1912. Since that time the Commission has not drawn one cent from the state's funds for the maintenance of the department, and it is specially provided that the state can not give any further financial assistance, and the State Treasurer is directed not to honor any warrants drawn by the Game and Fish Commission unless the money is in the State Treasury to the credit of the Game and Fish Protection Fund. All of this fund must be derived from the sale of hunting license.

During the year 1912 a call for volunteer wardens was made. The Commission agreeing, should their funds be sufficient as many of the wardens, to compensate as they saw fit. As far as possible, the selections for paid representatives to be made upon the merit system and without regard to political affiliations. The Commission is grateful to the volunteer wardens for their services and is earnestly laboring to develop a paid, competent warden service as rapidly as their funds will permit. The Commission is not now able—nor will it be for some time—to have a paid warden service in each county of the state, but even if this were possible, they could not accomplish the ends that they so earnestly desire until they have the co-operation and support of interested parties and representative citizens, and by this assistance and co-operation is meant, not only their assistance in securing the arrest and conviction of all violators, but by giving out the information in order that the general public might thoroughly know the reasons and necessity for the strict observance of the laws.

THE CONDITIONS EXISTING IN OTHER STATES.

Hunting License.

The resident hunting license law is not a new departure and prevails in every state in the Union, except Maine, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina and Mississippi.

Every state in the Union now requires that non-residents have a hunting license, except Arkansas, and there a non-resident is not permitted to hunt except upon his own land. All of the State Game and Fish Commissions throughout the United States and Canada are maintained and operated by

RIVER PILOT TELLS HOW RELIEF CAME

Louisville Steamboatman Describes Recovery Via Tanlac.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 19, 1915.—Captain T. S. Oatman, one of the oldest and best known river pilots in Louisville, who resides at 308 South Sixth street, this city, adds his testimony to hundreds of others in Louisville, who have gained relief by the use of Tanlac, Captain Oatman said:

"I have been afflicted with stomach disorders and catarrh many years. My condition became so serious that I lost my appetite, foods of a solid nature at ways causing great discomfort and pain in the abdomen. My catarrh also became worse, and every damp, cool morning I would get up with a choking sensation in my throat and a fullness of my head. I coughed up mucus and went about sniffing most of the time."

"I tried Tanlac and found it was the best thing I had done in many years, as it helped me from the first dose. My catarrh has virtually disappeared and my stomach is strong and feels right. I cannot praise Tanlac too highly."

Tanlac, the premier preparation is now obtainable in Mt. Vernon, at Chas. C. Davis' Drug Store and can also be obtained at Livingston at the Central Drug Co., and at John Robins' Drug Store, Broadway, Ky.

BEST COUGH MEDICINE FOR CHILDREN

"Three years ago when I was living in Pittsburgh one of my children had a hard cold and coughed dreadfully. Upon the advice of a druggist I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it benefited him at once. I find it the best cough medicine for children because it is pleasant to take. They do not object to taking it," writes Mrs. Lafayette Tuck, Homer City, Pa. This remedy contains no opium or other narcotics, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. Sold by all dealers.

FOR SALE

One good farm in Rockcastle and another tract of 350 acres of wild land, which will be sold at a bargain. There is enough timber on the land to pay for it. I also have a good sawmill located near the above described land. This mill is also for sale at a big bargain.

HOME REMEDIES

Touch warts and corns with a camel's hair brush dipped in iodine.

Butter or vaseline is excellent for a burn; if the place is covered instantly from the air no blister will appear.

For a severe headache, a towel wrung out of hot water and applied to the back of the neck will often give instant relief.

A good healing ointment for skin eruptions or abrasions is made of bismuth and white vaseline. Use one part of bismuth and three parts of vaseline.

The eyes are greatly strengthened, and what strengthens the eyes brightens them, by using a daily wash of rose water.

Hoarseness and ordinary sore throat is quickly relieved by putting a tablespoonful of pine tar in a vessel of boiling water and inhaling the steam by holding the head, covered with a woolen shawl, about three feet above the steaming vessel. Care should be taken not to expose one's self to a draft or cold wind immediately after using this remedy.

A PINE WHOOPING COUGH REMEDY.

Mothers, Dr. Bell's Pine Tar and Honey is just the remedy for your children's cold ailments. The fact is that pine is a quick enemy of cold conditions. Its qualities loosen the mucus in the throat, so the lungs and open up the air passages. The combination of honey, soothing and pleasant with the loosening pine quality makes this an ideal cough remedy for children. Each passing year brings for it new friends. A family of growing children cannot afford to be without it. 25c a bottle.

When Croup Comes Treat Externally

The old method of dosing delicate little stomachs with nauseous drugs is wrong and harmful. Try the external treatment—Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve. Just rub a little over the throat and chest. The vapor, released by the body heat, loosens the choking phlegm and eases the difficult breathing. A bedtime application insures sound sleep. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.

Majority of Friends Thought Mr. Hughes Would Die, But One Helped Him to Recovery.

Pomeroyton, Ky.—An interesting advice from this place, Mr. A. J. Hughes writes as follows: "I was down with stomach trouble for five (5) years, and would have sick headache so bad, at times, that I thought surely I would die. I tried different treatments, but they did not seem to do me any good. I got so bad, I could not eat or sleep, and all my friends, except one, thought I would die. He advised me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, and quit

I have now been taking Black-Draught for three months, and it has cured me—haven't had those awful sick headaches since I began using it. I am so thankful for what Black-Draught has done for me." Thedford's Black-Draught has been found a very valuable medicine for derangements of the stomach and liver. It is composed of pure, vegetable herbs, contains no dangerous ingredients, and acts gently, yet surely. It can be freely used by young and old, and should be kept in every family chest.
